Regarding your enquiry about interior works and external doors/windows, this would likely constitute permitted development by virtue of Class A, Part 1 of Schedule 2 of the Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (England) Order 2015 as amended. The interior works, as described should not need planning permission and, if the external materials used match the existing materials of the dwelling, there should not be an issue.

The following is a link to the technical guidance which includes information on Class A, Part 1 of the GPDO:

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

Do any of the above statements apply?

- ☒ No
