Heritage Statement for Extension to 35, High Street, Barkway.

N.H.D.C.
09 APR 2018

Attached is the Listing Text for the dwelling, I question the description because it gives the impression that the whole dwelling is as built as one. It is obvious from the internal construction and visually from the outside that the original building is the front portion with its own pitched roof.

A later extension was added to double the size of the building. This building has its own pitched roof creating a valley gutter between each.

The proposed works will only involve removal of walls that are part of the secondary building and no alterations are proposed to the original dwelling.

The proposal is to remove part of the rear walls on each storey and provide an oak frame to each. Any of the existing framework removed, will be re-used within the new work.
