Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

☒ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.

Details of the pre-application advice received

Pre-application response stated:

"In principle, a L-shaped dormer at the rear is supported. However, the overall size and bulk of the proposal remains unacceptable. The overall depth of the dormer has not been reduced enough to overcome the original objections to the previous scheme. The property is in a unique position within the streetscene, with clear views of the side of the dwelling and outrigger element from the street. The reduction of the proposal by approximately 60cm does not substantially reduce the visibility of the dormer from the street. Harm is therefore caused to the character and appearance of conservation area and is unacceptable.

If the depth of the dormer on the outrigger was brought back by a further approx. 1.25m, inline with the window below, then the proposal may be supportable. This would reduce the bulk of the dormer and reduce the view of the dormer on the outrigger from the streetscene".

The dormer depth has now been reduced by the suggested 1.25 metres, whereby this part of the dormer would not be visible from the street scene.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

Do any of the above statements apply?

☒ No
