

A photograph of an outdoor area, likely a car park, with a grassy and gravelly ground. In the background, there is a long, low metal frame structure with a series of curved arches, possibly for a covered walkway or parking area. The structure is supported by several vertical posts. Behind the structure is a dense line of trees, mostly without leaves, suggesting a winter or early spring setting. The sky is overcast.

Existing Car park
looking S W